

From the Lantern.
Rude Man, Spare our Bard.

UNRESPECTFULLY DEDICATED TO MANIAC HUSBANDS.

Rude man, spare our Bard!
Touch not a single song;
It is confounded hard
That you can't get along
Without you lay a tax
On talents not your own;
So, rude man, all we ask
Is, let our Bard alone!

Our good familiar G.
P. Morris, whose renown
Can ne'er forgotten be,
While New-York is a town;
Rude man, it is no joke
To cut your earth-born ties,
At fame your nose to poke,
By telling horrid lies.

The name you here enjoy
Should keep you in the shade,
But such as you, my boy,
Were not for blushing made;
From mother England's wits
Steal boldly without fear,
Give all creation "fits,"
But spare our "Brigadier!"

For libels which you sing,
Our land alone to mock,
Our cudgel longs to swing;
About your head, old cock!
To Britisheers go raving—
No slave our nation through
Who owns a soul to save,
Would change with such a Jew.

ANOTHER MURDER in Milwaukee.—John McCarty, living in the 4th ward, Milwaukee has been arrested on suspicion of killing his wife. Marks of violence were found upon the head of the deceased, which the husband accounted for by saying she had fallen upon the stove. She was in-temperate.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by apoplexy, caused by injuries received at the hands of John McCarty.

The "democratic" pole on Market Square is in a decidedly tottering condition. As it has served its purpose, we suggest that it be taken down by way of precaution.—Sentinel.

All very proper, but as the whig pole on Wisconsin street did not "serve its purpose," we would suggest that it should have been taken down long since.—Wisconsin.

From the remarks of the conflicting parties it is not hard to conjecture what will be the fate of their stately representatives.

REA correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says that when Talleyrand was in that city, at the close of the last century, he resided in an obscure court, and all his furniture consisted of one chair and a straw cot-bed. One cold morning in December he entered the store of a Frenchman, and wished to pawn his watch, as he was starving, and without fire. It was but a short time after this when Talleyrand became prime minister to Napoleon, and kings were glad to do him homage.

J. W. GRAY, editor of the Cleveland Plaindealer has been appointed Post Master at Cleveland. The Milwaukee Sentinel calls this an excellent appointment, and adds that "Editors make the best possible Post Masters." This may be true. At all events none suffer more by reason of bad one's.

REThe Washington Union says it is authorized to pronounce the story of an altercation between the Postmaster General and Senator Hunter, published in the New York Tribune a few days since, to be a sheer fabrication from beginning to end.

LAUNCH.—On Monday afternoon the finely modelled Schooner Col. Glover, was launched from SAUVEN'S Ship yard, at the mouth of the river, in the presence of a large number of spectators. She is a noble looking craft, will make a good carrier, sits on the water gracefully and looks as though she could travel. Her builder is ELIAS SAUVEN, a young man, and a Norwegian by birth. He has done himself great credit in constructing a handsome and substantial vessel, which, wherever she goes, will reflect honor upon her owners and the town she hails from. She is to be commanded by Capt. HENRY EDWARDS, a young man but an old citizen, who is well known upon the lakes as a careful, competent officer, and a good sailor.

THE MILWAUKEE Sentinel notices the launch of the Schooner Badger State, and says: "She went off the ways at the word, and as she rose from her plunje, the crowd greeted with hearty cheers one of the largest and handsomest sail vessels ever built on the great lakes." This is saying a great deal, and still it may all be true; because we have several vessels yet to launch.—But if that same crowd will step this way we will give them an opportunity to exercise their lungs with like provocation—only more so—once a week for the next month; and we strongly suspect that same Badger State, if she sails on Lake Michigan, will have occasion to keep an eye to the wind'ard of her "laurels" before she is much older.

CLEARED.—The Schooners Citizen & Gazette cleared on Saturday for Chicago with shingles from K. K. Jones—and the Challenge on Monday with shingles from Platt & Bro.

REThe schooner Geo. F. Foster arrived last night from Manitowoc, with a cargo of shingles. She reports having seen the schr. Crescent off Manitowoc on Thursday afternoon. The Foster, in coming up the river, ran into the schooner D. Newhall, carrying away the Foster's jibboom, and some of her head gear, and slightly damaging the Newhall.—Chicago Tribune.

WINTER WHEAT.—We learn from farmers in this, and also some of the adjoining counties, that the winter wheat, generally appears, well.—This is encouraging, inasmuch as the wheat crop is one of the most important of our agricultural interests.—Kenosha Telegraph.

Colloquy:

"Have you heard the news?"
"N-n-o! What news?"
"Why, the new firm of E. R. & S. W. SMITH have purchased the entire stock of Messrs.
